Laundry and beer? Permit sought for liquor sales

By Bob Slate
Staff writer

When does a coin-operated laundry become a convenience store? Or a liquor store? "That's something we're looking at," said Granite City Inspector Vince Scrum. Bob Bell and Ron Goforth, both of Granite City, have requested a special use permit at 2238 Illinois Avenue in West Granite to allow package liquor sales at the existing coin-operated laundry. Soda, candy, and other grocery items are already being sold at the business, although some city officials say the owners have no permit to sell them. The matter was to be considered by the City Council Tuesday night.

The city's Planning and Zoning Commission, which has advisory powers only, voted 8-1 Feb. 8 to recommend that the request be denied. Bell said he wants to operate a clean business providing products and services no longer available since Cohen's Foods, a grocery store, closed last year after operating in the neighborhood for decades. Bell promised to limit hours of operation and to prohibit sale of alcohol to minors, loitering and consumption of alcohol on the premises. Bell and Goforth also own (See LAUNDRY, Page 3A)

School moves cause concern Madison parents worried

By Scott Cousins
Staff writer

A proposal to move fourth and eighth graders into different buildings has raised some concerns among Madison School District parents, according to school board members. At last Thursday's meeting, board member Joseph Garcia said parents had contacted him about a recent proposal to move fourth graders to the Madison Middle School and eighth graders to Madison High School. The move would be part of a restructuring necessary to make space available for a full-day kindergarten program.

Part of the plan would be to establish two "primary centers" for kindergarten through third grade at Blair and Harris schools, one "intermediate center" for grades 4-5 at Madison Middle School, an "early middle center" for grades 6-7 at the Middle School and a "late middle center" for grades 8-9 at Madison High School. Students in both the intermediate center and the late middle center would be housed separately from the older students at the schools. Superintendent Gary Allison said the administration would be looking at scheduling today.

He said the key was finding space to fit in the classes. "The ideal would be having seventh through ninth grades self-contained, but we can't do that without doing something really strange, like moving the fourth grade to the high school," Allison said.

Garcia Allison

He also said having the eighth and ninth graders at the high school could also open up some opportunities for vocational training. Board member Dannie Sipes Sr. said the problem "is not at the school, but getting to and from there."

However, he said increased patrolling by the Madison Police Department has improved that situation. "I know it's a very sound educational plan," Allison said. "I hope we can work the bugs out. We're going to do everything we can to create a safe school within a school," he added.

Variety Club honors Fox, Hermann

The St. Louis Variety Club has announced that Robert R. Hermann and Marilyn Fox are the club's 1996 Man and Woman of the Year. The two will be honored at the club's "Dinner with the Stars" on March 2 at the Adam's Mark Hotel. The dinner marks the official beginning of the 19-hour Variety Club Telethon which raises funds for disabled and disadvantaged children in the St. Louis area. The telethon will be aired on KMOV-TV (Channel 4). Hermann, board chairman and CEO of Hermann Companies Inc., is active in a number of civic and charitable causes. In 1981 he received the St. Louis Award for founding the first VP Fair (now called Fair St. Louis). He successfully chaired the $19 million fund drive for the Missouri Botanical Garden, is a board member of Washington University Medical Center and chairs The Muny's (See HONORS, Page 2A)

Champion! Venne takes 160-pound state wrestling crown

By Bob Raphael
Staff writer

CHAMPAIGN — John Venne became Granite City's second individual state wrestling champion in two years on Saturday when he won the Class AA 160-pound championship at Assembly Hall.

Venne defeated Seth Malley of Aurora Waubesa Valley 3-1 in the title match in front of 10,000 spectators, including a boisterous section full of cheering Granite City fans.

"Oh, my God, I can't believe it, and I don't know what to say," Venne said. "I just wanted to win this so much. I can't believe it's really happening."

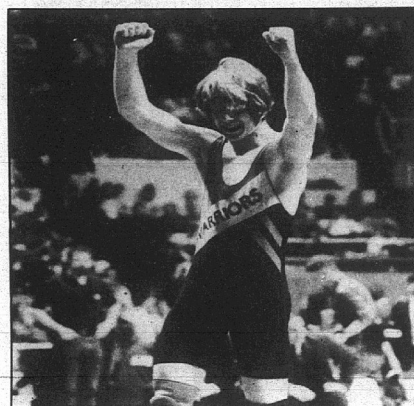

The GCHS senior follows T.J. Slay, who won the 130-pound championship in 1995.

"This gives the kids someone else to look up to," said GCHS coach Mike Garland. "Last year T.J., and now John. And it couldn't have happened to a nicer kid."

"Seven place winners and two champions in two years — I think we're headed in the right direction," Garland said. "This is when you want it all to come together. I care about winning during the year, but this is what I'm really after. Nobody will be asking what we did during the year, or what we did at Geneseo."

"This is where it's at. You come up here hoping that your kid can win, but to actually go through it and winning it, we just couldn't be any happier."

District doing well financially

By Scott Cousins
Staff writer

The Madison School District is continuing to do well financially, according to Superintendent Gary Allison.

At Thursday's meeting, he told board members that at worst, the district will have a balanced budget for the next year.

The board approved notifying the Illinois State Board of Education that it was working on its financial plan.

Allison said the approval was a formality, and showed expected expenditures and revenues for the coming fiscal year.

"You have to certify that you are working on a budget," he said.

The school's fiscal year ends June 30.

For the current fiscal year, the budget — described as "break even" — was $6.9 mil (See DISTRICT, Page 3A)

Sale of Stages expected soon

By Scott Cousins
Staff writer

An announcement on the purchase of Stages nightclub by Gateway International Raceway is expected soon — possibly by the end of the week.

The purchase of the nightclub — the business is owned by the U.S. government after being seized, although the building and property are owned by a third party — is part of a $22 million expansion at the raceway.

The nightclub lost its liquor license after a hearing Friday. The hearing was called after approximately 70 people were arrested for illegal sale and possession of alcohol by minors.

Rod Wolter, general manager of the racetrack, said Monday negotiations were in the final stages.

"It's a matter of dotting the 'i's' and crossing the 't's,'" he said.

Construction of a $22 million renovation and improvement project is set to begin sometime this spring.

When finished, the raceway could attract almost 500,000 people each year and have a local economic impact of about $70 million — more than the St. Louis Rams, according to company statistics.

Increased business at the raceway could also spur development in the city of Madison's newly-created tax increment financing district, which was recently approved and still in the planning stages. City officials have talked about other projects (See STAGES, Page 3A)

Nigerian scam prompts warning

SPRINGFIELD — Illinois businesses are the latest to be targeted by a long-running money-laundering scam out of the African nation of Nigeria.

A letter headed "Nigerian National Petroleum Corporation" and signed by "Dr. Joshua Momoh," who identifies himself as an accountant in the Ministry of Petroleum, offered to share with an area business $31.5 million in grant gathered by various alleged government officials.

Secretary of State George Ryan issued a warning that the solicitation was "a fraudulent business scheme being run by phony government officials."

"This scam has cropped up around the country many times over the last several years and apparently it has now made its way to Illinois."

The Secretary of State's Office has received several inquiries about the Nigerian letters. Spokeswoman Cathy Ritter said the office had not yet received any queries from the Metro East area — only from Chicago and Beardstown. But Chicago newspapers in Belleville, Collinsville and Granite City received copies of the letter last week, as did an Alton firm.

"To our knowledge nobody in Illinois has been defrauded, but we do know that people in other states have been," spokeswoman Cathy Ritter said.

"We were hearing reports from around the state," she said. "It does seem to be a scam that's not right now. These things seem to run in cycles."

The alleged scam artists appear to have selected their targets from a list of corporations from the Secretary of State's Department of Business Services.

The letters generally state they are from Nigerian government officials who padded contracts with foreign corporations for millions of dollars, pocketed the difference

DEAR SIR,

THANKS TO A PIECE OF INFORMATION WE GATHERED FROM THE FOREIGN TRADE OFFICE OF THE NIGERIAN CHAMBER OF COMMERCE AND INDUSTRY, THE INFORMATION IS SO POSITIVE AS TO CONVINCE US THAT YOU WOULD BE CAPABLE TO PROVIDE US WITH A SOLUTION TO A MONEY TRANSFER DEAL OF THIRTY-ONE MILLION, FIVE HUNDRED THOUSAND UNITED STATES DOLLARS (US$31.5M).

I AM AN ACCOUNTANT IN THE DEPARTMENT OF BUDGET AND PLANNING OF THE MINISTRY OF PETROLEUM. THIS DEPARTMENT IS PRINCIPALLY CONCERNED WITH CONTRACT APPRAISALS AND THE APPROVAL OF CONTRACTS IN ORDER OF PRIORITIES AS REQUIRED. WE HAVE SUCCESSFULLY SECURED FOR THE MILITARY GOVERNMENT OF NIGERIA, WITH OUR POSITION, WE HAVE SUCCESSFULLY SECURED FOR US$31.5M, THE AMOUNT NEEDED THROUGH OVER INVOICING OF CONTRACTS AWARDED TO FOREIGN CONTRACTORS.

HENCE TOGETHER WITH SOME OFFICIALS OF THE NIGERIAN NATIONAL PETROLEUM CORPORATION, THE FEDERAL MINISTRY OF FINANCE AND THE CENTRAL BANK OF NIGERIA, I HAVE DECIDED TO WRITE AND SEEK THE FEEDBACK OF MONEY (US$31.5M) INTO AN OVERSEAS ACCOUNT BY REMITTING NON-EXISTENT FOREIGN CONTRACTORS.

A VERY VITAL ACCOUNT INTO WHICH THE FUND WILL BE TRANSFERRED. THE CHARGE OF THE ACCOUNT WILL BE IN THE NAME OF THE NIGERIAN NATIONAL PETROLEUM CORPORATION.

A copy of the letter being sent to some area businesses.

and are looking for a foreign account in which to deposit the illegally obtained funds.

The letter sent to the newspaper offices and the Alton firm stated "we have successfully secured for ourselves the sum of $31.5 million... this amount accumulated through over invoicing of contracts awarded to foreign contractors."

"We plan to transfer this amount of money into an overseas account by awarding a nonexistent contract from my ministry."

The letter offers to compensate the companies for using their bank accounts with 30 percent of the total amount. "We shall keep 60 percent and the remaining is reserved for taxes and other miscellaneous expenses," the letter states.

The business is then asked to provide by phone or fax a copy of the company's letterhead, invoice sheets, bank name and address and phone numbers.

The letter promises the money transfer "will not take more than 14 working days" and "I assure you is 100 percent risk free."

Ryan said one California company that took the bait on a similar scam ended up losing $315,000.

If a firm replies to the original solicitation, the phony Nigerian officials then write back and request an upfront payment as either a commission or to pay a bribe to ease the illegal transfer, he said.

Once the cash payment is made, the "grant funds" are never transferred out of Nigeria and the phony government official disappears.

A variety of names and government positions have been used by the Nigerian con artists, whose scams have been highlighted on national television network news shows in recent years.

Legislators seek hike in taxes on gambling

SPRINGFIELD — Steep tax increases on riverboat gambling receipts are being proposed by several lawmakers.

Proposals that have gone nowhere in previous years to authorize more riverboat casino licenses in Chicago and land-based casinos in St. Clair County also have been put back into the legislative hopper.

Gov. Jim Edgar proposed a generally higher graduated tax in October that met with little response then.

However, Rep. Jack Kubik, R-LaGrange Park, has introduced a bill containing Edgar's plan for a tax rate ranging from 15 percent to 35 percent, depending on revenues. Currently, there is a 20 percent rate, with 5 percent going to local government and rest to the state.

The governor's proposal in the Kubik bill would tax the first $25 million of gross receipts at 15 percent; amounts between $25 million and $50 million at 20 percent; between $50 million and $75 million at 25 percent; between $75 million and $100 million at 30 percent; and 35 percent for amounts in excess of $100 million.

Officials of Argosy Gaming Co., owner of the Alton Belle, and the Illinois Riverboat Gaming Council are opposed to a change in the tax, arguing it is already higher than in other states with casino gambling.

Area Rep. Steve Davis, D-Bethalto, also has expressed opposition, saying a higher tax could

"kill the goose that's laying the golden eggs."

However, Sen. Jesus Garcia, D-Chicago, has proposed an even higher tax than the governor's. His would start at 15 per cent but climb to a maximum of 50 percent.

Garcia and various other Chicago lawmakers have also introduced bills proposing to use some of the riverboat gambling tax proceeds to finance $500 million in bonds for grants to local school districts for building projects.

Daley's proposal for five additional riverboat licenses in Chicago has also again been introduced. Rep. Wyvetter Young, D-East St. Louis, has introduced a bill to permit land-based casinos in St. Clair County alone.

The odds of any of the new casino bills passing may be poor, given the recent history of the issue. No significant changes to the riverboat gambling law have been made in recent years and Senate President James "Pat" Philip, R-Wood Dale, has said it and other controversial issues won't be voted on this spring.

Philip has put back into the legislative hopper a gambling proposal he first made last spring that failed to pass the Senate.

His bill would permit veterans and fraternal organizations to have legalized low-stakes gambling on video poker machines regulated by the state.

Horton to speak at breakfast

By Bob Slate
Staff writer

Former St. Louis Cardinals pitcher Ricky Horton will be the guest speaker at the fourth annual Rotary Mayors' Prayer Breakfast in Granite City.

Horton, a member of the 1965 and 1967 Cardinals teams that won the National League pennant and a member of the 1968 World Series Champion Los Angeles Dodgers, now serves as area director of the Greater St. Louis Chapter of the Fellowship of Christian Athletes, which serves 17 counties in the St. Louis area.

"This should be a very positive event for Granite City," said Ray Morgan, co-chairman of the Rotary Mayors' Prayer Breakfast Committee.

The prayer breakfast is an annual event intended to bring business, civic and government leaders together in a spiritual setting, Morgan said.

The event will be held March 19 at St. Gregory's Community Center. Tickets are $10 each and available from any Rotary member.

Horton is a graduate of the University of Virginia in Charlottesville, where he earned a bachelor's degree in systems engineering. He was a National League representative to the Major League Baseball Players' Association, where he served on the Pension Committee and on the 1990 Negotiating Committee for a Basic Agreement.

Horton learned to speak Spanish fluently after studying with Latin teammates. He has also played baseball in Puerto Rico and the Dominican Republic, as well as for the Chicago White Sox in the major leagues.

Horton has also hosted a weekly fishing show on cable television and has been a participant in the Governor's Leadership Forum for Missouri's top collegiate leaders.

Horton and his wife, Ann, reside in Chesfield, Mo., with their two children, Jennifer, 9, and Andrew, 5.

and operate Icehouse Liquors at 2446 W. Washington Avenue in East Granite.

But a number of those attending the Feb. 8 zoning hearing said that there are already plenty of places in West Granite to buy alcohol and objected to the proposal.

The property is in an R-3 residential district, but the building has been used as a coin-operated laundry for many years and the use was "grandfathered" when the city adopted its zoning code, Zoning Administrator Glen Hollis said.

The owners have only recently begun selling soda, candy and other grocery items at the business.

Alderman Craig Tarpoff, chairman of the City Council's Planning and Zoning Committee, said the change in use — from a laundry facility to a store where gum and confections are sold — is an intensification of an already nonconforming use.

He said that a hearing should have been required before the additional sales were allowed.

Aldermen Nancy Sanders and Foster Frederick, who represent the West Granite neighborhood, said they oppose the addition of liquor sales at the laundry.

Several area residents oppose liquor sales at the business.

Robert Lewis has lived in the nearby 2000 block of Bryan Avenue for 68 years. He said he strongly objects to the proposal and supports complete abolition of liquor sales in residential areas.

Bill Patterson, a member of nearby Second Baptist Church, said that church members have recently invested $600,000 in renovations and want to protect their investment. He also opposes the addition of liquor stores.

Clifford Williams, of the 2200 block of Illinois Avenue, said children often purchase candy and gum in the laundry building now and he objects to their exposure to liquor sales. He is also concerned about additional traffic.

One female resident of the 2300 block of Illinois Avenue said she has seen fights, drunks and trash around the building.

Planning and Zoning Commission Chairman Butch Peterson cast the lone vote in favor of the petition.

Members Dennis Ross, Dave McFarland, Loren Davis, Brad Gavenson, Frank Greathouse, Scott Borger, Allen Reiter and Alan Schmidt voted to recommend that the petition be denied.

lion. The district started with a surplus of about $395,000 and is expected to end with the same amount.

If the district is in the black at the end of this fiscal year, it can petition to be taken off the state watch list.

The board also approved the addition of three people to the substitute custodial list, and accepted the resignation of Maurice Hughes, a custodian at Madison High School.

The board was also notified of several negotiating meetings with teacher and service employee unions.

such as hotels, golf courses and commercial developments in the 615-acre TIF.

The first phase will include a new 4,000-foot drag strip and a 15,000-person permanent grandstand.

The second phase — slated to begin as soon as phase one is completed, probably in the early fall — will be a 1.25-mile oval track and 25,000 more permanent seats. That oval track is expected to go through the nightclub site.

The project includes 30 VIP suites and expanded parking, garage and other facilities.

When finished in 1997, the racetrack will have state-of-the-art drag and oval tracks, and will be capable of hosting National Hot Rod Association and NASCAR events.

The sale of Stages will effectively close the nightclub. Wolter said previously that as soon as the race track takes possession of the property, it would close the nightclub.

The nightclub had been owned by Tom Venezia — who was convicted Dec. 2 of racketeering, conspiracy to commit racketeering, operating and illegal gambling business and conspiracy to defraud the Internal Revenue Service — but it was forfeited along with other property after Venezia's bond was revoked.

Study identifies threats to health-care system

A new study by a consumer group indicates that one in 26 patients nationally are injured by negligence, contaminants or other threats in the health care system.

The Coalition for Consumer Rights released the study in support of legislation it is pushing that would add nonphysicians to the state board that disciplines doctors, release disciplinary information to the public and establish a toll-free number for the public to get information on health providers.

The group is affiliated with Illinois Public Action and both receive significant contributions from personal injury lawyers. Another recommendation in the report is a strong liability system to make it easier for patients to sue.

The report contained very little specific information on Illinois but cited a variety of sources, including the Journal of the American Medical Association, the New England Journal of Medicine, Lawyers Weekly USA and the magazine Mother Jones.

One of the few statistics it includes about Illinois is a 36 percent increase from 1983 to 1993 in patient treatments per doctor, from 880 to 1,200 per year. The report claims this "exacerbates malpractice and weak regulation, putting patients at risk."

The report also alleges that senior citizens, low-income and Medicaid patients and minorities are most likely to be injured or killed through malpractice. It states that operating rooms account for 40 percent of those deaths, with drug-related injuries second.

Criticizing efforts by the Republican majority in Congress to curtail the Food and Drug Administration, the report notes that more than 400 medical devices and 150 drugs were recalled by the FDA last year.

"These facts are frightening. Even more frightening is the sluggishness at the Department of Professional Regulation about its mandate — weeding out bad doctors," said Rep. Janice Schakowsky, D-Evanston, who is sponsoring the legislation backed by the coalition.

Create beautiful
Floral Decanters
with these instructions from

FRANK'S
NURSERY & CRAFTS

Where Beautiful Things Begin

Gorgeous floral decanters like the ones shown here blend in with just about any home decor. And we're going to show you just how easy it is to create them.

Materials Needed:
Assorted glass bottles with corks. Hint: Bottles with a neck on them work best for keeping flowers near the bottom of the bottle.
Baby oil, mineral or cooking oil
Suggested dried flowers:
Caspia
Eucalyptus tips
Plumosa fern
Ti tree
Everlastings
Statice sinuata
Roses
Baby everlastings
Cinnamon stick pieces
Raffia, ribbon or tulle
White craft glue
Glue gun

Step 1
Coat bottom half of cork with white glue and set aside to dry. This will prevent the cork from absorbing the oil in the bottle.

Step 2
Select tall pieces of greenery you would like to insert in your bottle. Cut dried flowers in various heights. Avoid using heavily dyed product, since dark colors may run.

Step 3
Insert assorted colors of dried flowers in glass bottle. Small pieces of cinnamon can also be added if desired. Insert several pieces of greenery into bottle for height.

Step 4
Fill bottle with oil. When glue on cork is thoroughly dry, insert cork in bottle.

Step 5
Tie bottle with raffia, ribbon or tulle. Decorate outside of bottle with dried flowers and greenery as desired.

Your finished creations are now ready to be proudly displayed!

Glen Carbon to replace wetlands

GLEN CARBON — Wetlands sacrificed by the Meridian/Glen Crossing Road project will be replaced twofold.

Flagg and Associates engineers discovered three small wetland areas will be demolished by the project.

"It's not like the Florida Everglades," said Walt Blotvogel, chief executive officer of Flagg, which is designing the project. "They're just casual little spots that became wetlands."

The casual little spots amount to only about three-tenths of an acre. Two are along Meridian Road between Illinois 157 and Interstate 270, and the third is on Glen Crossing Road.

To comply with environmental protection laws, the village must replace the wetlands "at a two-for-one ratio," Blotvogel said. "The wetlands will be twice as big as what were destroyed."

At a Village Board meeting Feb. 13, he said land had been picked for the new wetlands at a low point near the end of a drainage pipe at the bike trail just south of Interstate 270.

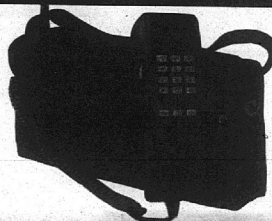

"We just have to move some dirt around," he said. Engineers will create a small dike to contain the natural runoff.

"The water will be detained (in the area), and the natural wetland growth will occur."

A wetland is defined by the amount of water in the soil and the types of vegetation and wildlife it supports.

Champion among Warriors

John Venne watches the final seconds tick away in his championship bout.

By Rob Raphael
Staff writer

CHAMPAIGN — For the second straight year, the Granite City wrestling fans had something to cheer about Saturday at the IHSA State Individual Wrestling Meet.

John Venne, unranked in the state and picked by no one to even place in the state tournament, came through with a masterful performance over the weekend to capture the Class AA 160-pound title.

Venne stayed patient and persevered through one of the tougher brackets at Assembly Hall, gaining the Warriors' second individual title in two years. T.J. Slay won the 130-pound title last year.

For Venne, it was the culmination of four years of hard work. In fact, that seems to be the story behind his success. Not flashy, and not a big scorer of points, he still showed the speed and strength necessary to achieve the highest honor possible in his class.

"I still can't believe it happened, and I don't know what to say," Venne said. "I just kept thinking how hard I worked last summer, and spring, and fall, and I just knew I had to remain calm.

"I wanted this so bad, and I guess all the work paid off."

Nearly as ecstatic as Venne was Granite City coach Mike Garland, who makes no bones about what is important to him and his program — excellence at state.

"It feels as good as it did last year," he said. "John's a great kid who paid the price. He and Chris (Janek) were the only kids left in the weight room this summer, after everyone else had left. He'd come and get the keys from coach (Tom) Blaha during the football season and go in and lift weights."

"It's great for John and great for our program. You can be undefeated in the regular season, but nobody will remember that. They'll always remember what you did at state."

Venne defeated Seth Malley of Aurora Wobonsie Valley in the championship match, by a 3-1 score.

After a scoreless first period, Malley took the down position and gained an escape point. Again the wrestlers tugged and struggled without any scoring for the rest of the second.

Venne then took the down position for the third period, and eventually tied the score when he stood up. After that, it all boiled down to who could get the first takedown. Venne pulled it off with 43 seconds left in the match.

"Early in the match, I tried to do whatever I could to keep my balance. I tried to push him to set up a shot," said Venne. "I tried early but couldn't quite do it. I just tried to keep my balance. He wrestled a smart match."

"I tried a lot of moves, but I couldn't get through. I just wanted it so bad, I just wrestled as hard as I could. This ranks right up there, with the day I was born."

When the final horn blew, Venne first motioned to the Warrior fans in the seats, then stood up with his hands raised before sinking back down to the mat with his

Mt. Carmel grappler clinches fourth title

By Rob Raphael
Staff writer

CHAMPAIGN — Given a chance to say what they really felt, the nearly 10,000 wrestling fans packed into Assembly Hall rose in unison to honor a great champion.

Chicago Mt. Carmel's T.J. Williams was the big story at the IHSA State Individual Wrestling Tournament on Saturday when he defeated Abed Hamden of Lockport Township to wrap up his fourth individual state title.

Williams finished his prep career as one of the greatest wrestlers to ever grace the state tournament. He won his second title at 145 pounds Saturday, and also won at 135 in 1993 and at 140 in 1994.

Williams joins his brother Joe Williams as the only brothers to win multiple titles in Illinois. Joe Williams also won four championships between 1990 and 1993.

Before arriving for the tournament, Williams boldly predicted he would win his fourth title, and word of that spread to the Champaign newspapers.

Add to that the controversy surrounding the Caravan with last season's team tournament — and as a result, Williams was loudly booed each time he was introduced through the tournament.

"That's OK, they just don't want to see the favorite win. They'd rather see him upset," said Williams after he won his title. "But I got a nice ovation afterwards, so there's no hard feelings."

Possibly realizing wrestlers like Williams don't come along too often, the crowd gave Williams a standing ovation after time expired in his title match. Williams defeated Hamden 10-2, and seriously challenged through the entire tournament.

"I just kept thinking, 'Offense, offense, offense,'" he said. "I didn't want to give anybody a chance to defeat me. I felt like I controlled my own destiny."

Also gaining repeat championships in Class AA was David Douglas of Dolton Thornridge, who won his third title overall when he outpointed Jeremy Larsen of Oswego in the 130-pound championship match.

Shane Zajac of New Lenox Lincoln-Way won his second consecutive 189-pound title, defeating Todd Miller of Schaumburg 8-1 in the finals.

In Class A, Todd LeCuyer of Plano won his third state title, this time defeating Josh McCarthy of Byron 11-3 in the 125-pound finals. And Matt

Chaulsett nabs 4th in 119-pound class

By Rob Raphael
Staff writer

CHAMPAIGN — With the upper half of the Granite City lineup dominating all season, there was always a bright spot sitting down there in the lower weight classes — Bobby Chaulsett.

And once again, Chaulsett proved there was no fluke in that, as he earned a state place medal by finishing fourth in the 119-pound class at Assembly Hall on Saturday.

Chaulsett saved his best for last, as he steadily improved through the regional and sectional, and finally peaking at state.

In fact, Chaulsett said he peaked in his quarterfinal match against former state champ Dave Stoltz of Arlington Heights Hersey.

"I didn't expect to do anything. I was thinking I'd finish maybe fifth or sixth if I was lucky," he said. "When I wrestled Stoltz, I gave it everything I had, and wrestled as hard as I could. I think it took all the energy out of me."

Chaulsett even admitted that he was drained after that match.

"I think that was my peak match of the season, and I can't say I was tired, but my head wasn't quite as in it as it was earlier."

"I can't blame yesterday's match for what happened today (Saturday). But I was thinking yesterday that I was a senior, this was my last chance and I had to place."

"Yesterday I was hungry, and I wanted it, but today I'd

"Yesterday I was hungry, and I wanted it, but today I'd already placed, so I didn't wrestle as hungry."

— Bobby Chaulsett

Heavyweight C. Janek had a great year

By Rob Raphael
Staff writer

CHAMPAIGN — Unfortunately for Chris Janek, he experienced his first, take down, first fall and first loss of the year all heaped up into one match. But it took the biggest guy in Assembly Hall to do it.

Janek, undefeated at 37-0 entering the final match, went up against 6-foot-7, 274-pound Hubert Thompson of Hillside Proviso West in the heavyweight finals Saturday in the state individual tournament.

The two grappled for over a minute, before Janek made a fatal mistake.

"Yes, he made a mistake — he stepped over on a whizzer, and you can't do that," said GCIS coach Mike Garland.

"Hey, he got here, he's a two-time state place winner at heavyweight, and I don't know if Granite City's ever had anybody like that."

"He had a great year, he just made a mistake. Whether that kid's better than Chris, I guess we'll never know."

So ended a wonderful season for Janek, who became the first athlete in GCIS history to make All-State in two sports. After a stellar senior football season, Janek transferred that excellence to the mat.

After some time to think about things, Janek was understandably philosophic.

"I'm not disappointed, it's just that it was the first time I'd been taken down all year, and I wasn't used to that," he said. "I'm pleased with what I did during the year and at the tournament, I just wanted it to end differently."

"Actually, that guy (Thompson) wasn't that strong. But once I was off-balance I was in trouble."

After a first-round bye, Janek cruised through his first three matches. He defeated Kevin DeBoni of Arlington Heights by fall at the 30-second mark. He then got past Scott Kozak of Orland Park Sandburg and Terry Griffiths of Rockford Auburn by identical 6-2 scores.

Meanwhile, Thompson's presence wowed the crowd each time he came out to wrestle. Thompson's frame was a rarity in the heavyweight division — a tall, sculpted build. A junior, Thompson will no doubt be heard from again.

"I'm not disappointed in him, I'm disappointed for him," Garland said of Janek. "He's the best we've got. I'll take Chris over that Thompson kid any day."

"He paid the price in the weight room. He weighed 204 pounds when he first started wrestling, and now he's at 264. Hopefully he can pick himself up and be a force for us Tuesday, and hopefully again at state next weekend."

And Garland was deservedly proud of who he picked as captains at the beginning of the year (Janek and John Venne).

"I think I chose a couple of good captains — what you see is what you get. Chris had to beat the No. 2 and No. 4 ranked guys, and this guy was No. 3. Chris made a mistake — one mistake — and it cost him the state championship. There's no disgrace in getting second, but Chris is the kind of kid who's not satisfied with second. When he gets older, he'll look back and he'll be proud of what he's done. I Bondi of Elgin St. Edward won his second state crown by defeating Althoff's Greg Voegtli 7-3 at 140 pounds.

Voegtli was one of two Crusaders to place on Saturday, as Mike Weber defeated Joe Gleissner of Ashton to win the third-place medal at 171 pounds.

Locally, only Althoff in Class AA brought home medals.

Granite City was led by 160-pounder John Venne, who overcame extreme odds to win the championship. Venne was never ranked in the state's top 10 this year, and was not even expected to place by tournament prognosticators.

Also placing for Granite City was heavyweight Chris Janek (second) and 119-pounder Bob Chaulsett (fourth).

Granite City has now placed seven wrestlers in the past two years, including two champions. T.J. Slay won the 130-pound title in 1995.

"I like to think that is says something about the kids we have in Granite City," said Warrior coach Mike Garland. "And maybe that we're doing something right here."

Althoff has now brought back five medals over the last two years. Weber and Voegtli have each placed two years in a row. The Crusaders had 100-pound champion Mike Greenfield in 1995.

"It's definitely a nice way to finish my first year of coaching," said Crusader coach Greg Garland, younger brother of Mike. "But I have to give credit to the kids for wrestling a superb tournament."

Other Metro East place winners Saturday included Jason Christenson of Civic Memorial, who finished fifth in the Class AA 171-pound bracket; and Tom Riggins of Roxana, who won the 189-pound championship in Class A.

Let's all go to the polls to vote in March!

A vote for Helen Hawkins for County Board member is a step in the right direction. We need a woman like her on the Board who has concern for the people and gets involved in our environmental and community projects.

Boxing Showdown raises $50,000

The Eighth Annual St. Louis Metro Budweiser Boxing Showdown in November raised $50,000 for the St. Louis Backstoppers, according to Jerry G. Clinton, Chairman of the Board and Chief Executive Officer of Grey Eagle Distributors, sponsor of the event.

In a release dated Feb. 5, the amount of the proceeds gathered from the annual boxing event totaled $46,088; and Grey Eagle's Charitable Foundation contributed $3,912 to reach the $50,000 goal.

Since Clinton created the Showdown in 1987 it has raised a total of $297,588 for the Backstoppers. Grey Eagle, the St. Louis County distributor of Anheuser-Busch products, and the Budweiser brand have sponsored the event since it began.

The 1,000-member Backstoppers provide immediate and long-term assistance to the families of police officers and firefighters who lose their lives in the line of duty.

already placed, so I didn't wrestle as hungry. This class was loaded, no doubt about it." Granite City coach Mike Garland agreed with Chaulsett's evaluation.
"I told him 'You had a great tournament.' The 119 class was loaded, and we knew that would be the case. Bobby said earlier in the year that he wanted to go down to 112, but I'd tried that before. I told him 'No, stay at 119, and take the good with the bad. Whatever happens, you can blame me.' "He had a great tournament, and he beat the former state champ (Stoltz). He had a great sectional tournament, and that just carried over. People don't realize he was out most of his sophomore season with a broken arm. I wish he could have wrestled that whole year, it could have made a difference."

"It all came together for him in the regionals and sectionals; we always knew he was capable of that. Everything came together for him — timing, mat savvy, everything. We're really proud of him."

Chaulsett (39-7) defeated Stoltz 8-4 in the quarterfinal, but lost to Brad Owens of Mt. Zion — the eventual champion — in the semifinals. Chaulsett then lost in the third-place match to Matt Goldstein of Hoffman Estates Conant.
The four other Warriors who traveled to Champaign were not as fortunate as Chaulsett, John Venne and Chris Janek. Jason Wilson (152) lost in the preliminary round, and did not get a wrestleback chance. The same can be said for John Sellers (189), who had a first-round bye but lost in the second round.

Joe Scott (171) came within one win of placing, but couldn't get past Jason Christenson of Civic Memorial in the wrestleback quarterfinals. Jeff Estrada (145) made it to the quarterfinal wrestlebacks as well, but lost by injury default against Alan Wilson of McHenry.

However, the season was not over for the Warriors, as they were to take on Civic Memorial in the team sectionals Tuesday night. The winner of that dual meet was to wrestle the winner of the Chatham Glenwood-Murphysboro meet immediately following.

know we're proud of what he's done — the staff, high school and community."
"I'm just happy for John," Janek said of his fellow senior. "He's worked seven or eight years for that, and nobody had him even placing in the tournament."
"Chris has meant so much to the school, with his scholarship," said Garland. "It's because of kids like him and Venne that we're ranked nationally and doing so well. We've been on ESPN and other channels, and hopefully it's things like this that will get kids scholarships for kids."

"We sure hope (placing at state) is an every-year thing — it would be nice. It gives junior highs and feeder programs some motivation — to not just come up here to wrestle, but come up here and place."

•Venne

"I can never see or hear the people up there when I wrestle, but I knew they were there," he said. "And when I got up, I knew they were cheering, and I just wanted to let them know I appreciated them."

Garland said Venne should be a real model for others to follow.

"We had to bump him up to 189, and he never complained. He's the kind of kid you want to build your program around. I feel good for his parents and grandparents. I've said before that his grandpa got me rolling in wrestling, so I feel like I've kind of repaid him for that."

Venne displayed outstanding defensive skills throughout the tournament, and incredible patience.

"He didn't make any mistakes — not one," said Garland.

Venne, now 38-5, rolled through the best 160-pounders in the state.

He first dispatched of Bryan Roe of Downers Grove South, winning 6-2 in the championship bracket's first round. Then he exploded offensively by whipping Aaron Delmar of Palatine 14-6 in the quarterfinals.

Venne's biggest test came in the semifinals, when he squeaked out a 1-0 decision over Ben Mena of Rockford East. A third-period escape was enough for Venne.

"He's hard to score on and he takes advantage of what's there," Garland said. "That's the difference in this tournament. A little bit of luck, and one mistake can make all the difference."

"Nobody had him ranked, and nobody in the state thought he could win it — except John, myself and the coaches. We couldn't be more proud of him."

•Showdown

"The Showdown is a community event which brings together our area's civic and political leaders, police and fire departments to support the Backstoppers who meet special needs in tragic times," Clinton said.

November's Showdown featured 17 bouts between a team of St. Louis City police officers and firefighters and a similar team representing St. Louis County.

The Backstoppers cover St. Louis City, as well as St. Louis, St. Charles, Jefferson and Franklin Counties in Missouri; and St. Clair and Madison Counties in Illinois.

Hal Richardson, the Backstoppers' executive director, said: "Because of proceeds from the Showdown, we are in a much better position to assist when tragedy occurs. It's gratifying to see the police and fire departments joining together to support our efforts."

The Backstoppers extend financial assistance such as mortgage payments, family health coverage and educational expenses to the families of police officers and firefighters of our area who perish in the line of duty," Richardson said.

The Showdown was again coordinated by Myrl Taylor, a member of the National Gold Gloves Hall of Fame, and by the St. Louis Amateur Boxing Association, led by its president Steve Holley.

IF YOU'VE NEVER GIVEN A TEACHER AN APPLE, NOW'S YOUR CHANCE TO MAKE UP FOR IT.

THE GOLDEN APPLE AWARDS

St. Clair Square presents you with a golden opportunity to acknowledge an outstanding teacher through the Golden Apple Awards—our teacher recognition program developed with the endorsement of Jed Deets, Ed. D., Regional Superintendent of Schools in St. Clair County.

St. Clair Square's Golden Apple Awards were created to show support and appreciation for the teachers of St. Clair County while providing you with the opportunity to honor teachers whom you feel have made extraordinary contributions toward the education of our children.

All teachers currently teaching in St. Clair County public or private schools are eligible and may be nominated by either a parent, student, fellow staff member, administrator, or community member. Previous Golden Apple Award recipients, however, are not eligible.

A panel of judges, including retired teachers, representatives from the Regional Superintendent's Office, and representatives of St. Clair Square, will select 25 teachers. Each will receive a prestigious Golden Apple Award and be honored at the fifth annual Golden Apple Awards Ceremony, a festive celebration, to be held in May at St. Clair Square.

Madison students to help Leukemia Society

The students at Madison Senior High School will put their typing skills to use on Thursday to help raise the much needed funds for leukemia patients during the 14th annual Tri-State Type-A-Thon to benefit the Leukemia Society of America.

The Type-A-Thon involves students from Arkansas, eastern Missouri and southern Illinois soliciting pledges from sponsors for taking a timed typing test.

Students and teachers are eligible for prizes based on the amount of money collected. All monies raised through the Type-A-Thon itself benefit local patient assistance, research and educational programs.

Leukemia, a disease of the blood-forming tissues and organs, is the number one disease killer of children.

Thanks in part to strong public support of the Leukemia Society of America since 1954, great strides have been made in therapy and treatment of leukemia. This year's Type-A-Thon is endorsed by professional educators including the Arkansas Future Business Leaders of American, Illinois Education Association, Missouri State Teachers Association and the Missouri National Education Association.

In addition, Office Depot and J.C. Penney are serving as major corporate sponsors of this event.

For more information on leukemia, contact the Leukemia Society of America at 1 (800) 264-CURE.

INSIDE

Lively Taste

Sweetness can have a say on sandwiches. The trick is to do it with a twist. For a honey-of-a-turkey sandwich, combine 2 cups cubed cooked turkey, 1/2 cup honey mustard salad dressing, 1/2 cup chopped celery and 1/4 cup chopped green onion. Divide between 4 slices pumpernickel bread. Top each with second slice bread. Serve sweet pickles on the side for accent.

Medicine Chest

The Nonprescription Drug Manufacturers Association has a booklet, "To Your Good Health," to help people use self-care products wisely. To get one, write to: NDMA, 1150 Connecticut Ave., N.W., Washington, D.C. 20036-4104.

Fresh Picks

If a favorite stew needs a late-winter update, vary the vegetables. Use leek, shallot or red onion instead of yellow onion at the beginning of cooking. Parsnip, turnip, rutabaga and yam each takes 20 to 30 minutes at the end of cooking time in the pot. Plan on only 10 minutes for broccoli florets, cauliflowerets, mushrooms, sliced fennel or corn fresh off the cob. Allow just five minutes for frozen or canned corn, diced or strips of bell pepper, or shredded cabbage. Snow pea pods add their own flavor in 3 minutes.

Big Fat Tip

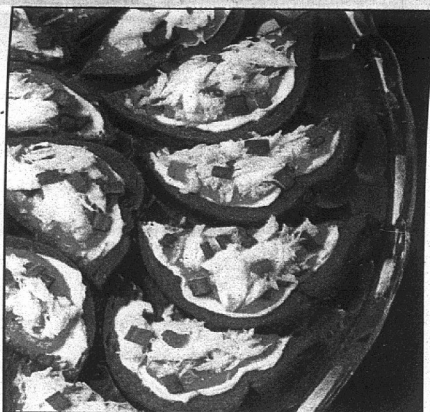

For a light cheese sauce, in a blender or food processor, blend 1 carton (12 ounces) low-fat cottage cheese and 1 can (5 ounces) evaporated skim milk until smooth. In small saucepan over medium-low heat, heat mixture, stirring constantly. Add 1/2 cup (2 ounces) shredded American cheese. Stir until cheese melts. Stir in salt and pepper to taste. Makes 2 cups.

Future Shop

A supermarket in Green Acres, Wash., heated up its pizza sales last year with a rectangular pizza prepared in a corrugated craft paper box at the store for baking right in the box at home. At Tidyman's, an underbaked 1-inch crust is laid in the box and fresh toppings are added once a day while customers watch. Baked as directed, 10 to 15 minutes in a preheated 350° oven, it offers baked-at-home flavor without a tip for the delivery.

Oven-Fried Catfish is a quick study served with tartar sauce made by mixing fat-free mayonnaise, a splash of lemon juice, spoonful of drained pickle relish and bit of chopped green onion, or placed on a dish with Pineapple Chutney, which combines sweet and tart flavors with spicy appeal.

This pick-up variation of a popular dip can be served on cocktail rye bread or slices of toasted bread. If it proves too popular, a second batch can be whipped up in five minutes. Spread 8 ounces reduced-fat cream cheese, softened, on 16 slices cocktail rye bread. Spread with 1/3 cup prepared seafood cocktail sauce. Mound 1 can (6 ounces) lump crab, drained, on each. Sprinkle with 2 green onions, chopped.

C-food gets an A

By Janice Denham
Staff writer

No matter how it is spelled, seafood gets high marks for fine taste and good health.

The expanding fresh fish market is gaining fans by the minute, while canned seafood is extending to offer more varieties of better quality.

Yes, it still tastes like fish. But translations of fish into dishes that poach it in wine or mesh it with flavors from Maui to Mexico to the Mediterranean pass flavor tests in ways Friday frequenters years ago never found in their dreams.

The darling of the healthy-eating crowd, it is one of the quickest protein-packers to put in the center of a dinner plate. Its good-fat, little-fat profile give it extra points in a quick quiz.

From down-home catfish to canned crab, it will be featured as Lenten specials in coming weeks, so studying with the money-saving crowd that makes the best grades puts the cook at the head of the class.

COOKING IN SPURTS

Cooking in small time spurts is a good rule for children. Rhonda Barfield, author of "15-Minute Cooking," says a cook of any age has more energy with only 15 minutes of effort. "The way it works in our household, my 4-year-old likes to get up early, so she and I have special time alone that time of the day." An older child helps in the evening.

Food not complete in 15 minutes often finishes itself. For instance, it can chill or gel in a refrigerator, cook in a slow cooker or simply sit until it needs to be completed. The setup with a child offers one-on-one time together and also teaches how easy cooking is when divided into manageable steps.

Banana Nut Salad from the book is easy enough for a child to prepare in 15 minutes: Dice several bananas (enough to feed the family) into a serving bowl. Cover with sweetened yogurt of a favorite flavor (about 1/2 cup yogurt for every 3 bananas). Mix well. Clean edge of bowl with a paper towel so it looks nice. Coarsely chop a few peanuts and sprinkle them on top.

"15-Minute Cooking" is available for $12.95, which includes postage and handling, from: Lilac Publishing, P.O. Box 665, St. Charles, Mo. 63302.

Heart-y Bites

By CHERYL HOUSTON

Vinegar has no-fat flavor for salad, sauce, veggies

The fruity flavor of Schnucks apricot nectar was a plus for some tasters, while those new to nectar were surprised by its thickness.

Apricot nectar divine say tasters

Schnucks apricot nectar got an overwhelmingly positive response from those who were familiar with that style of juice.

The nectar, sweetened with corn syrup and sugar, contains apricot pulp and juice, with its juice content set at 36 percent. A 1-cup serving has 140 calories, 28 grams sugar and 1 gram dietary fiber.

One taster said the rest of her family drank orange juice, while she drank apricot nectar while they were growing up.

"This apricot nectar is great. It is smooth, rich in taste, extremely refreshing and filling. I could make lunch out of it. I just about definitely will buy it," she said.

Another who drank it regularly as a child agreed.

"We had fresh apricots on a tree in our back yard and canned apricot nectar is about the only thing I can find that tastes like real fruit, because the shipped apricots certainly don't," she said.

"I don't buy it often now. It's a real treat when I do. The thickness is unusual, compared to the thin juices we're used to today. If I want it to quench my thirst, I drink it over ice."

As an adult, she was surprised to find real pulp is what makes it thick.

"I never thought about it, but I guess the fact that it has fiber in it is a plus for it, since that is one reason I prefer to eat fruit instead of drinking juice, since it doesn't usually have any fiber," she added.

It gained some new fans, too, for its flavor.

"I don't remember ever having apricot nectar, but this is nice and thick and good. I expected it to be a stronger flavor, but it turned out to be just right," another taster said.

Another taster liked its flavor, as well as the sweetness.

To reduce fat in favorite recipes, we search for flavor-enhancing alternatives to butter, margarine and other high-fat ingredients. While we may marinate replacing fat and salt with herbs and spices, another of nature's fat-free gifts — vinegar — awaits our use.

Varieties have grown beyond the highly acidic and bitter white vinegar of our past. Cider, wine, balsamic and rice vinegar have distinctive characteristics.

• Full-bodied apple cider vinegar is used in coleslaw, sweet-and-sour sauce, sloppy joes and sauerbraten.

• Mild wine vinegar — made from red or white wine, sherry or champagne — is suited as a salad dressing base, but can be used interchangeably in most recipes calling for cider vinegar.

• Balsamic vinegar is made from grapes, like traditional wine vinegar, but then is aged several years in barrels of different woods in varying sizes, giving it a rich, mellow flavor. It is almost black in color and can be substituted for common vinegars in salad dressing or even poured over fruit, such as strawberries.

• Japanese rice vinegar can be found in large supermarkets. Made from fermented rice with very mild flavor, it is sweeter than white wine or cider vinegar.

Seasoned rice vinegar has sugar and sometimes salt added, then the vinegar is heated until they dissolve. To make a mildly seasoned rice vinegar, start with ½ cup vinegar, 2 teaspoons salt and 2 teaspoons sugar.

• The latest trend is to infuse herbs — such as tarragon, sage, mint, thyme or a combination — into a vinegar base. Fruited vinegars, usually add raspberries, blueberries or blackberries.

Wise Ways

By LINDA S. BLUMENBERG

Water in winter makes skin soft, pucker perky

Of all nutrients essential for life, water is the most important. It also is the one most often taken for granted, especially during the winter when losses are less obvious. Chapped lips, dry scaly skin, headaches and dry nasal passages are all signs the body is not getting enough water.

Every cell in the body contains water. Brain and muscle cells, for instance, are three-fourths water. Contrary to the saying "dry as a bone," bones actually are about 20 percent water.

The average adult body is 65 percent water. That means if I could wring all the water out of my co-worker Gary, I would need, at least two five-gallon buckets to hold it.

Water provides the fluid for many body functions. It carries nutrients and oxygen to all parts of the body and moves waste products away from them. Thousands of essential chemical reactions constantly occurring in the body need water. It lubricates joints and, more obviously, maintains body temperature through the evaporation of perspiration.

We lose two to three quarts water each day through urine, perspiration and water vapor exhaled from the lungs. Of course, perspiration losses are greater during hot weather activity, but all losses must be replaced daily to avoid dehydration.

Illnesses like colds and flu tend to increase water loss, especially if they are accompanied by fever, vomiting or diarrhea. Because sickness usually interferes with normal eating and drinking patterns, cold and flu sufferers are advised to get plenty of fluids.

Taking prescribed diuretics also increases water loss. The warming quality of caffeine or alcohol, appealing during cold weather, but both are mild diuretics.

Alcoholic beverages also increase risk of dehydration because the body uses eight ounces of water to metabolize every ounce of alcohol. Decaffeinated coffee or tea, hot cocoa and hot spiced cider still give warmth without depleting water stores.

Certified family and consumer scientist Linda Blumenberg is nutrition specialist for University Extension (University of Missouri system) in Montgomery County.

Microwaves, canned food perfect match

There are many reasons to love February, with all its days for special notice, but microwave oven users should take important note, because this is canned food month.

With a microwave used most often for warming cooked food, canned foods are a perfect match for the handy kitchen appliance.

Now let's work on creativity. Soup heated in a microwave is a snap. Original ones come straight from the can, too, by combining varieties.

Consolidated soups should be reconstituted in a 2-quart casserole, combine two cans soup — for instance, cream of asparagus with cheddar cheese or New England clam chowder with cream of potato — with 2 soup cans liquid. This can be hot water, milk, broth or any combination. Microwave 5 to 9 minutes on high power, stirring two or three times during cooking to distribute the heat evenly.

Canned vegetables only need thorough heating, not more tenderizing, so waxed paper is the best cover for warming them. A tight seal, such as plastic wrap or a casserole lid, can cause them to be overcooked and mushy.

For an 8-ounce can (about 1 cup) of vegetables, drain off some of the liquid (if sodium is a concern, rinse them and leave a little water or add a few spoonfuls of homemade broth), and microwave 2 to 2½ minutes on high power. For a 16-ounce can (about 2 cups).

Home economist Sandra Hounson specializes in microwave cooking.

TUNA CELERY CRISP

2 cans (6 oz. each) tuna, drained
1 cup chopped celery
3 tsp. dried onion, drained
1 can (4 oz.) mushrooms, drained
1 can (10.5 oz.) cream of celery soup
1 small jar pimento, drained
1 can french-fried onions

Mix together tuna, celery, onion, mushrooms, soup and pimento. Pour into 3-quart casserole. Microwave on high power 6 to 8 minutes, stirring after 3 minutes. Sprinkle fried onion on top. Microwave on medium (50 percent) power 2 min.

Honey sweetens ideas for dunking and dipping

Noshing and nibbling are favorite American pastimes, especially during the cold months. Whether the gathering is for a birthday, an after-game party or a non-occasion, new ideas for appetizers that are quick and easy to prepare are always welcome.

Hot Honey Drummettes give chicken a sweet and spicy flavor with a quick glaze made from honey spiced with curry powder, ground ginger and cayenne pepper. It takes only minutes to mix the glaze. Baste twice with the glaze during baking to produce mouth-watering results for this special treat.

Hummus, a Middle Eastern dip made from pureed garbanzo beans, is readily available at most grocery stores. However, blending it at home adds unique flavor. Moroccan Spiced Hummus gets its body from honey and lemon juice. Unlike most recipes, this hummus does not use olive oil so it is low in fat, but subtly sweet and intriguing, which makes it a superb match for pita bread and vegetables.

Round out offerings with non-alcoholic Honey-Orange Marys. These are perfect for morning parties or brunches. The sweet flavors of orange juice and honey contrast with traditional horseradish and celery salt. Those who miss the kick can add vodka. When adding honey to recipes, remember dark-colored honeys, like buckwheat, are typically stronger in flavor than light-colored varieties, like clover.

Rinse chicken and pat dry. Arrange in single layer on baking sheet. Bake in preheated oven 10 minutes. In small bowl, combine honey, curry, ginger and cayenne until well blended.

Spoon half the honey mixture over drummettes. Bake 10 minutes. Using tongs, turn over chicken. Spoon remaining honey mixture on top. Bake 10 minutes longer. Let cool slightly before serving.

Makes about 28 pieces; 469 calories, 17 g fat, 38 g protein, 187 mg cholesterol, 41 g carbohydrate and 164 mg sodium per 4-drummette serving.

HONEY-ORANGE MARYS

32 oz. (4 cups) tomato juice
1/2 cup orange juice
1/4 cup honey
2 tsp. prepared horseradish
1/2 tsp. celery salt
Pepper sauce to taste
Worcestershire sauce to taste
Freshly ground pepper to taste
Celery stalks for garnish

In large pitcher, whisk together tomato and orange juice, honey, horseradish and celery salt until well blended. Season to taste with pepper sauce, Worcestershire sauce and pepper.

Serve over ice in tall glasses. Garnish with celery stalks. Makes 4 servings; 121 calories, no fat or cholesterol, 2 g protein, 3 g carbohydrate, 885 mg sodium and 1 g dietary fiber each.

MOROCCAN SPICED HUMMUS

2 cans (15 1/2 oz. each) garbanzo beans, drained, rinsed

1/4 cup honey
1/4 cup lemon juice
1 tsp. ground cumin
1 tsp. minced garlic
1 tsp. salt
Dash cayenne pepper
2 to 3 tbsp. chopped fresh cilantro or parsley
Toasted Pita Triangles or crackers

In food processor or blender, process beans, honey, lemon juice, cumin, garlic, salt and cayenne until smooth.

Remove mixture to serving bowl. Stir in chopped cilantro or parsley. Serve with Pita Triangles or crackers.

Pita Triangles: Separate and cut rounds of pita pocket bread to form 2 circles each. Cut each circle in 6 or 8 triangles. Place on baking sheet. Bake in preheated 400° oven about 5 minutes until crisp and lightly browned at edges. Makes 2 1/2 cups dip; 149 calories, 2 g fat, 9 g protein, no cholesterol, 35 g carbohydrate.

HONEY-ROASTED NUTS

1/2 cup honey
2 tbsp. butter or margarine
1 tsp. cinnamon
4 cups mixed nuts
2 tbsp. sugar

Preheat oven to 325°. Line baking sheet with aluminum foil.

In small saucepan, bring honey, butter and 1/4 teaspoon cinnamon to boil. Stirring constantly, boil 2 minutes.

Four mixture over nuts. Mix to coat well. Spread on prepared baking sheet. Bake in preheated oven, stirring once or twice to coat nuts, 10 to 15 minutes until nuts are glazed and lightly toasted.

Cool 20 to 30 minutes. Remove from pan. Combine sugar with remaining 1/4 teaspoon cinnamon. Toss with nuts until coated.

Make the most of appetizers for sampling easy and tasty fare with a hint of honey.

Skip tree for cherries; use frozen dough for rolls

George Washington may be associated with getting cherries the hard way, but his mother would be proud to bake these easy-to-make rolls, ready in record time from frozen bread dough.

Ruby red cherry pie filling centers tender yeast dough to create a delicious and handy sweet roll. Crowned with hazelnut icing, these rolls are hard to resist — especially since each roll has only 4 1/2 grams fat. Thanks to the convenience of frozen bread dough, these rolls take only a few minutes to prepare. Simply divide dough, fill with pie filling, let rise and bake.

Rolls can be assembled the evening before serving, covered with plastic wrap and placed in the refrigerator to rise overnight. All that is necessary in the morning is shaping and baking.

CHERRY HAZELNUT ROLLS

1 loaf (1 lb.) frozen bread dough or 12 frozen white rolls

1/2 cup cherry pie filling
1 to 2 tbsp. butter or margarine, melted
Hazelnut Icing
Chopped almonds, if desired

Let dough thaw. If using loaf of dough, divide into 8 pieces.

With floured hands, roll each piece of dough into ball. Place on greased baking sheet. Brush with melted butter or margarine. Let dough rise until double in size.

Rolls can be assembled this far the evening before serving, covered with plastic wrap and placed in refrigerator to rise overnight.

Preheat oven to 375°.

With finger or spoon, gently make well or indentation in middle of each roll. Spoon about 1 tablespoon pie filling into each roll from bread dough, less on dough from rolls.

Bake in preheated oven 15 minutes or until golden brown.

Drizzle with Hazelnut Icing. Top with almonds.

Hazelnut Icing: Mix together 1 1/2 cups confectioner's sugar, 4 tablespoons liquid hazelnut-flavored, fat-free, non-dairy creamer (found in dairy section of supermarket) or milk.

Makes 8 rolls; 280 calories, 5 g fat, 310 mg sodium, 56 g carbohydrate, 5 g protein and 1 g dietary fiber each.

Meaty fresh mushrooms give 'heart' to sauces

Good cooks treasure the sauces in their recipe repertoire, particularly if they are easy to prepare. When these sauces feature fresh mushrooms, a plain piece of chicken becomes elegant and a bowl of pasta turns into a feast.

Mushroom and Basil Wine Sauce is delicate, yet complex, made with white wine, fresh basil and rich, woody mushrooms. Red bell pepper, garlic, green onion and oyster sauce, available with other Oriental foods in the supermarket, give it flavor balance and visual appeal. This sauce dresses up anything on the menu — chicken, fish, pork, rice or pasta.

MUSHROOM AND BASIL WINE SAUCE

- 2 tbsp. olive oil
- 12 oz. fresh white mushrooms, sliced (4 cups)
- 4 oz. fresh shitake (or more white) mushrooms, sliced (2 cups)
- 1 cup thinly sliced, red bell pepper
- 2 tsp. minced garlic
- 1/2 cup dry white wine
- 1 cube chicken bouillon
- 1 tsp. cornstarch
- 1 cup water
- 1/4 cup sliced green onion
- 1/4 cup thinly sliced fresh leaf basil or chopped parsley
- 1 tbsp. oyster sauce, if desired
- Pinch ground red pepper

In large skillet over high heat, heat oil until hot. Cook mushrooms, bell pepper and garlic, stirring occasionally, about 6 minutes until mushroom liquid is almost evaporated.

Add wine and bouillon. Cook, stirring occasionally, about 4 minutes until wine is slightly reduced and bouillon is dissolved.

Combine cornstarch and water until smooth. Add to skillet with green onion, basil, oyster sauce and ground pepper. Bring to boil. Stirring constantly, cook about 1 minute until lightly thickened and clear.

Serve over broiled chicken breast, fish or pork, or toss with hot cooked pasta or rice.

Yields 4 cups.

MUSHROOM BOLOGNESE SAUCE

1 lb. fresh white

- mushrooms
- 2 tbsp. olive oil
- 1/4 cup chopped onion
- 1 1/2 tsp. minced garlic
- 1/2 cup dry red wine
- 2 cans (8 oz. each) tomato sauce
- 1 tsp. Italian seasoning, crushed
- 1/4 tsp. salt
- 1/4 tsp. sugar
- 1/8 tsp. pepper

2 tbsp. heavy cream, if desired

Remove stems from mushrooms. Finely chop stems to make about 1 cup. Cut large caps in half. In large saucepan over high heat, heat oil until hot. Cook onion, garlic and mushrooms, stirring occasionally, about 8 minutes until mushrooms are tender and release their liquid. Stir in wine. Simmer 3 minutes.

Add tomato sauce, Italian seasoning, salt, sugar and pepper. Cook, stirring occasionally, 3 to 4 minutes to blend flavors. Stir in cream.

Serve over hot, cooked pasta or rice.

How effective is exercise? Some heart transplant candidates, on a walking program and medication while they waited, improved enough to get off the transplant list.
If eyes get red and sore after swimming, check that goggles fit snugly against the face so water can't get in. Remove contact lenses before swimming. If you can't see well enough to swim without the lenses, consider prescription goggles.
